TOM QUILTY BUCKLE HORSE PLAQUES – APPLICATION FORM

With the introduction of a new Australian designed and made Tom Quilty Buckle set for release at Scottsdale in 2018, the AERA is launching a Tom Quilty Buckle Plaque for horses. These plaques are available for purchase and will initially use the last of the U.S. made buckles.

The AERA would like to recognise the horse's achievement and allow those horse owners or breeders, with an involvement or connection in the accomplishment of a TQ completion, a chance to own an enduring keepsake from the event.

Any horse that has successfully completed a Tom Quilty, in any year, is eligible for a plaque. These buckles cannot be worn and are a tribute to the horse that completed the ride.

The buckle is set into a piece of Sydney Blue Gum with a felt backing and a wall hanging hook. The plaque is adorned with the Golden Wattle, Australia's floral emblem. It is engraved with the horse's name, the TQ it completed and, the inscription can be customized a little if wanted, to add your personal touch.

Numbers of the old buckles are strictly limited and shall be sold on a first in first served basis. Some division placing buckles are also available. Plaques with the new Australian Buckle will be available after this year's Tom Quilty at Scottsdale Tasmania.

The application form for a plaque is available on the AERA website www.aera.asn.au

Pre-payment of $400 (inc. GST and postage in Australia) for the plaque is required upon acceptance of the application by the AERA. You will be notified of this acceptance and sent the AERA banking details. Please allow 3 weeks after payment for delivery.

The Horse Plaques are intended for those directly involved with the horse's achievement, i.e. breeders, owners, riders, trainers. Acceptance of this application is at the discretion of the AERA. You may personalise the engraving of the plaque. Please be advised that space is a limiting factor for personalisation.
